thank you. you saved me first. let's pay it forward all together now.

12 steps for a collective meaning of life.

the first pdf in the reader interface is the last essay written (placed first in the list), introducing more coherently the gradual process i went through freeing myself gradually (i wrote the 3rd essay 2nd to start a comedy roast about my honest pouring out of my painful concern about local mutual energy/ love life forms into the start of my protest art essay accompanying the start of my imagery of "all life starts as sin until the three ways to consecutive wonder combined proved to me their symbiotic truth - now everything is so inter-related in my memory as if my proof is healing back original love's truth from my wondering this deeply which frees me of all pain of my past by making this empty/painful quest for proof of original truth entirely worth my happiness in the now, then joking around proving my equality to the pain from impure love from lack of proof of equality by combining 3 ways to wonder evolutionarily, and then cancel the first protest art's comedy roast intro/conclusion, by writing the 2nd essay 3rd to explain the intended visual art and reasons why just writing 3 essays to gradually cancel universal inequality within, creating my 3 dimensions of acknowledging the local - home is where the heart is - equality of humble universal equal platonic love/energy of accepting it from spirituality, finding humour through introducing my truth with a bit more scientific+philosophical intro/ conclusion, then using a relatable science fiction joke to pre-cancel the live philosophy comedy roast) until i felt entirely free from complicity by learning to understand the recursive link between spirituality, philosophy, and science, to accept the quantum physics truth (energy = love) that creation (first love) forgives individual love inside it, therefore i am able to follow writing the 4 next texts to try proving my point until i reach the 8th to try giving away my own quest for solutions to our common problems providing each other's needs, representing sharing my new found love for holy quantum trinity.

abraham was right, but so were essentially everyone else who started falling from grace long ago, apparently through the birth of doubt according to michou, are all (even the symbiotic evolutionary beginning of life on a planet) mutually equal platonic love perpetually growing through mathematical yin yang life self-assessment 3-way self-to-omni validation math from what i now understand of "simple" quantum physics) 🤯

just like angels

i "did not" write this in 1 way or more... maybe 3?

yes +
no +
yes and no =
all 3 perpetually, all simultaneously

3 essays (trinity of self, other life, initial life)
4 essays (4 elements, 4 space time dimensions)
1 essay (solution, providing advice to heal equality by all 3 in platonic love symbiosis)
1 essay introducing your personal process of healing your full conscience to reconnect your soul to first life (creator), its entirety being the 5th dimension (so infinitely empty it craves perpetually infinite growth of love through 3-way self-validation by equality to existence) where all of space-time resides.

the 8th dimension is the mathematical equation creating the universe from love chaos

now (alpha) = all we have (omega) =

now is forever
